

Cosmetic dentistry changed my life

I never realised how much impact your smile has on your life. Some of us are blessed with beautiful healthy smiles, others accept their looks and avoid smiling at all costs.

I felt people were always looking at my teeth. No matter what new outfit I wore, or how perfect my hair and makeup was, my smile would let me down.

I often would decline invitations where I knew I would be meeting people. It's not until I look back at old photos that I realise I had mastered the art of smiling with my mouth closed.

My teeth were discoloured and crooked. I had obvious black fillings and the colour and strength of them had deteriorated over the years. I'd become too embarrassed to go to the dentist because of how they looked. The frightening thing is, if I didn't rectify my smile at all, I could have lost my teeth early in life.

I researched into who I'd feel comfortable with to create my dream smile. Dr Dylan Yung is one of New Zealand's leading cosmetic dentists, traveling the world practising the latest techniques and lecturing both here and overseas. He is a true artist.

Reassuringly Dylan created a mould of what my smile would look like. I felt relaxed and informed throughout the entire process. My new smile took only three visits and a total of five hours.

The transformation was dramatic; I just love the new me - I can't stop smiling!

My confidence has improved so much that I'm enjoying everything in life more. Work presentations are a breeze and my husband loves the new younger looking me.

I now realise the longer you leave your teeth to deteriorate, the harder and more expensive it is to correct. If I thought about or realised how much you use your smile - I would have done this years ago.

- D Senden

Any niggling part of your smile can often be rectified. Sometimes as quickly as in your lunch break.

Looking after your teeth is an investment. How long did the joy of your shopping spree last? Your smile lasts forever.

Aevitas offers complimentary no obligation smile consultations (valued at $90) for anyone wishing to discuss improving their smile.
